ROOSEVELT HAD HAND ON KNOBS

PRESIDENT STARTS THE GREAT PORTLAND EXPOSITION.

PROMINENT MEN PRESENT

Vice President Fairbanks Made an Address—Hod Taylor of Wisconsin, Also There.

The national government, which sanctioned the Lewis and Clark Exposition by providing for buildings and displays which represent an expenditure of $300,000, has given further evidence of its confidence in the Pacific Coast's undertaking by providing a large and representative congressional party attended the opening exercises yesterday. President Roosevelt, at Washington, started the Fair by pressing a golden key in the White House, and was represented personally at the opening exercises by Vice-President Charles Warren Fairbanks. The identical Charles Warren Fairbanks, the congressional party, which numbered thirty-one, including some of the best known and most popular men in national affairs. Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the lower house, was one of the orators of the day, and the other national legislators who spoke were Hon. Clarence D. Clark, United States Senator from Wyoming, and Hon. James A. Tawney, representative from Minnesota. Hon. H. A. Taylor, first assistant secretary of the treasury, and chairman of the United States Government Board for the Exposition, also delivered an address.

Of the thirty-one members of the national legislature, ten were senators. The personnel of the senatorial party follows: Hon. Henry C. Hansbrough of North Dakota; Hon. John W. Daniel of Virginia; Hon. William P. Dillingham of Vermont; Hon. Clarence D. Clark of Wyoming; Hon. Louis R. McComas of Maryland; Hon. L. Heister Bull of Delaware; Hon. Lee S. Overman of North Carolina; Hon. Francis G. Newland of Nevada; Hon. James M. McCreary of Kentucky; Hon. Robert J. Gamble of South Dakota, and Daniel M. Tansdell, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate.

The congressional party follows: Hon. James A. Tawney, of Minnesota, wife and daughter; Hon. James S. Sherman, of New York; Hon. Charles L. Bartlett, of Georgia, and wife; Hon. Joseph W. Babcock, of Wisconsin, and wife; Hon. J. A. Bouldier, of Ohio, and wife; Hon. William A. Rensburg, of Illinois, and Mrs. Rensburg; Hon. James A. Hemenway, of Indiana, daughter and son; Hon. Joseph C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, and wife; Hon. George S. Legare, of South Carolina, and wife; Hon. H. C. Adams, of Wisconsin, and wife; Hon. George N. Southwick, of New York; Hon. Robert L. Henry, of Texas; J. H. Small, of North Carolina; Hon. James McAndrews, of Illinois; Hon. Courtney W. Hamlin, of Missouri; Hon. Lucius N. Littauer, of New York, and Alexander McDowell, clerk of the House of Representatives.

The exercises began promptly at noon, the assembly being called to order by the president of the exposition, H. W. Goode. Following divine invocation by Right Reverend David H. Moore, D. D., S. S. D., Methodist Episcopal bishop of Oregon, and the rendering of the march, Imperial Oregon, by the Innes Band, President Goode delivered the opening address. He was followed by Hon. George E. Chamberlain, governor of Oregon; Hon. Jefferson Myers, president of the Oregon State Commission to the Lewis and Clark Exposition; Mayor George H. Williams of Portland; Congressman James A. Tawney, Hon. H. A. Taylor, Hon. Joseph K. Cannon, and Vice-president Fairbanks. Most Reverend Alexander Christie, D. D., Catholic Archbishop of Oregon pronounced the benediction.

Dainty All-White Frocks

A new light is put upon the possibility of the all-white frock in the modes designed for the sweet girl graduate. Although the modistes had in mind the simple beauty always associated with this important epoch in the life of a girl when designing her costumes, there is no reason why they should not be copied for other occasions, especially since many are capable of reproduction upon inexpensive lines.

A charming silk multi loses nothing of its attractiveness when copied in soft French linen costing less than half the sum of the mull. Instead of the silk foundation of the original design, the linen effect is built over coarse lawn with beautiful effect.

The skirt has a deep hem-stitched hem and is simplicity itself from the standpoint of effect. Above the hem there are tucks, graduated in width ascending to the beltline and each separated with a narrow band of lace insertion. Above the elbow the puff is very scant in proportion, trimmed with narrow ruchings of lace put on in reversed order and sandwiching a band of insertion.

A princess design for a graduating frock is rather unusual, but looks charming on a well-rounded figure, which is often found in these days of athletics among schoolgirls. Very fine linen, but with sufficient body to be adapted to a pretty graduating frock. The skirt is finished with a deep flounce of the linen inset with lace alternating with groups of tiny tucks. Above the flounce panels of lace and tuck are interpolated into the skirt below the hips, thus breaking some of the plainness of it above and below the waistline. Quite original in effect are bands of lace running irregularly around the bodice outlining a girdle, and where the lace is pointed upward to form a scallop, little cascades of Valenciennes lace are sown on the linen to fill in the space, making a pretty picture. This is an idea not safe to carry out, however, unless the figure is very slender, while for very lithe figures it makes the princess more of a possibility.

Above this girly effect, the bodice has the insets of lace and groups of tucks to match the skirt trimming and these form a finish for a deep yoke of fine hand-embroidery, for it is almost impossible to find a modern linen frock this summer without its touch of embroidery introduced somewhere.

An extremely dainty blouse is designed for a rather simple skirt. In fact the outline of the skirt, with its lace of trimming, do not justify description when there are so many other models of which to write. But the blouse has strips of lace running from the shoulders down to the deep yoke of shirred taffetas. There are two rows of the lace on either side of the front, with shirring between to produce the necessary fullness, although the design is not very bloused. The front is arranged in vest effect and cut low and square to accommodate a guimpe. The cut-off, if one might use the expression, is finished with a band of lace and the sleeves have cuffs made of deep embroidery. There are shoulder puffs of linen made with bias bands of the same material draped from the shoulders to the elbows en cascade, while tiny lace frills are introduced between the folds of the drapery. The effect is the acme of daintiness and affords a delightful change from the usual treatment of the summer sleeve.

The all-over embroidery gown is a luxury, of course, but where is the girl who does not desire one? Next to it is the frock made of embroidered ruffles. These are formed of embroidery of fine design into the fashionable skirt, three or four flounces to the skirt. The embroidery can be bought by the yard and is cheaper than the all-over effect, while combined with lace it makes charming blouses.

ISSUES A SOUVENIR EDITION

Catholic Citizen Comes Out in Twenty-Four Page Style.

The Catholic Citizen celebrates the thirty-fifth anniversary of its founding today by issuing a splendid souvenir edition of twenty-four pages, with an illustrated cover, showing Progress drawn by her winged horses through the air. The number contains excellent portraits of leading city officials, county officers and judges and federal officers of the city, as well as illustrations of prominent men in various walks of business, and of former editors and proprietors of the paper. ## SEASON ENLIVENED BY SOME BIG DEALS

Though This Is Naturally the Slow Time on the Tobacco Market.

Usually this is the quiet season in the tobacco market of southern Wisconsin but the past two weeks were made big ones by some deals that would be considered large in the business. Swisher Brothers of Newark, Ohio, have been in the city the past two weeks and accompanied by F. S. Baines, western representative of the firm, cleaned up 1140 cases of 1903 binders. F. S. Baines purchased the Holton & company packing at Stoughton. This consisted of 355 cases of 1904 northern tobacco. S. B. Heddles shipped to the east 600 cases of 1901. The 1904 crop is coming out of the sweat in excellent condition and promises to be a well-paying one. The plant beds are now progressing rapidly, but the setback received earlier in the season will postpone the transplanting season a week or two this year.

HAS DIETZ'S CAPTURE BEEN GIVEN UP NOW?

Reports From Ladysmith Are That the Logging Company Has Discharged Its Men.

It would appear on the face of dispatches from Ladysmith that John Dietz is to be left in control of Thornapple Dam. The United States posse under the leadership of William Appleby have returned and Mr. Appleby has stated that all the force of his expedition was lost when he was ordered not to shoot Dietz, while Dietz had no orders and if he had gone in to arrest him would have shot him dead rather than a snail. Now word comes from Ladysmith that the drivers employed to haul the logs down from the dam after Mr. Dietz had been dispossessed of have been discharged by the logging company, interested and the correspondent at Ladysmith thinks this is meant either to blind Dietz into a feeling of security or is to let the men wreak the dam waiting for Appleby and his party to capture Dietz they enjoyed life and visited with Dietz freely.

TEAM OF HORSES PLUNGED INTO CENTER STREET DITCH

Animals Belonging to Alva Russell Came to Grief Last Night.

Two horses belonging to Alva Russell and drawing one of his hacks, plunged into the deep center street sewer cut near the intersection of High street, at eight o'clock last evening. Seeing no danger lights, the driver headed them directly into the ditch. The police department was notified and with the assistance of the officers the two badly bruised animals were finally rescued. The hack was removed this morning. The sewer contractors say that they had lanterns out but that they must have been stolen by boys.

SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCUSTS ARRIVE

SPECIMENS AT THE GAZETTE OFFICE VOUCH FOR FACT.

EAT THE FOLIAGE ALL UP

If They Appear in Any Large Number the Shade Trees Are Liable To Suffer.

Seventeen-year locusts have made their appearance in Janesville. Those pests appear to be developing very rapidly and in several portions of the city large specimens have been captured together with cocoons and the larvae. These animals have a large bug or beetle-shaped body like an overgrown blue-bottle fly and are equipped with wings which fold up flat against the back in two divisions similar to that of the grasshopper, both belonging to the same family. They have six feet armed with sharp claws but unlike the grasshopper have no long hind feet for jumping purposes. Their head is shaped like the grasshopper, with large red eyes and horns, and their tail is equipped with a stinger and feeler.

Eat Foliage
These pests appear every seventeen years. Usually they are in swarms and ravage over a vast expanse of territory. They devour all foliage and growing plants and when in large numbers strip a country bare of all vegetation. Even in their primary stage, before fully developed, they can do much damage, as the little worms eat until gorged when they weave a cocoon and sleep until time to hatch into the bug proper. These cocoons are not unlike those of butterflies only much larger and more lightly spun. The eggs themselves are laid in the ground by the females, and are hatched by the heat of the earth into the worms.

Rocky Mountain Locust
The so-called Rocky Mountain Locust is not like the seventeen-year species, but is in reality a grasshopper. In Europe these insects are a pest and their appearance means a complete devastation of the crops. They develop more readily in a warm or hot climate free from moisture, although this spring they have appeared in several portions of the city despite the damp and wet. When emerging from the cocoons they make a whirring that is easily distinguished.

No Preventive
There seems to be no direct preventive for them except the killing of the cocoons or the larvae before the worm is hatched. They are not partial to any one kind of tree, but eat anything that is green, being able to fly they can elude the precautions taken against worms. Recently a treatment of gas generated by gasoline was tried in Massachusetts as a precaution against a species of caterpillars and this same method of procedure can doubtless be used against this pest if they become too numerous. Several specimens of the fully developed locust have been brought to the Gazette office, showing that their existence is an assured fact.

Freepoint Objected to the Arrangements and Contests Had to Be Transferred to Illinois.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR HYOMEI

Far Easier to Cure Catarrh Now Than at Any Other Season.

Now is the time to use Hyomei, when the early summer days make it so easy to cure catarrhal troubles. The Hyomei treatment, breathed for a few minutes three or four times a day in May or June, will do good twice as quickly as it did in January, and nearly everyone knows that used faithfully then, it completely rids the system of catarrh.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but one dollar, and consists of a neat inhaler that can be carried in the purse or vest-pocket and will last a lifetime, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. Extra bottles of Hyomei can be procured, if desired, for fifty cents.

People's Drug Co. give their personal guarantee with every Hyomei outfit they sell to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. There is no risk whatever to the purchaser of Hyomei.

FARMERS' MEETING AT THE HARMONY TOWN HALL, Monday, June 5th, 1905, at 2 O'clock P. M.

Farmers of Rock county are urged to come and hear the great questions of the day as they affect farming, explained by N. C. Crawley, State President of the American Society of Equity, who will address the meeting on the subject of "How to Obtain Profitable Prices for All Farm Products." He will also explain in detail the principles of "Controlled Marketing and Price Making on the Farm."

The tobacco growers are especially requested to be present at this meeting, as it is desired to organize the Rock county growers in order to cooperate with the growers in Dane and other tobacco growing counties where organizations have already been perfected. The question of profitable prices is a most important one and one every farmer is interested in.

Farmers, take time to come to this meeting to learn about this great movement that is revolutionizing American agriculture by compelling just and profitable prices for all farm products.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, June 2, 1865.—The weather is decidedly warm—86 in the shade. Although it is quite dry and dusty just now we shall be much disappointed if we do not have rain within two or three days.

Fast Day.—The observance of yesterday, in our city, as a day of fasting, &c., was general by the religious community. The Presbyterian church was filled in the morning. Rev. Mr. Thompson preaching an admirable discourse. Meetings were held in the other churches but we believe no other sermons were preached.

Serious Accident.—A correspondent sends us the following: A serious accident occurred about one o'clock yesterday to Elder Fuller, of this city, while on a visit to his son in Delavan. Just as he started to return with his horse and carriage, a number of loose horses approached him, when he turned and took his horse by the bridle, striving to hold it, but the animal overpowered him, trampling Elder Fuller under his feet, seriously injuring his head, and it was feared one limb was broken.

When the messenger left nearly an hour after the accident to bring the tidings to his wife (mother of Mrs. James Crosby) he was still unconscious. Mrs. Fuller started at 7 p. m. hoping to find him alive though.

being an aged person fears were entertained that he could not recover.

Bradford.—A recent visit to this beautiful town has convinced us that it is the garden of Rock county, agriculturally, and not far from the Garden of Eden socially. Its beautiful groves, expansive fields, well cultivated farms surrounded by well trimmed hedges and adorned by excellent buildings and handsome shade trees, all combine to make it a very desirable place of residence.

At the residence of Jacob Fowle, Esq., we met a party of forty or fifty ladies and gentlemen, where the day was pleasantly spent. Agreeable conversation, good music and proper regard for the inner men, (for which none knows better how to provide than our hostess) it was voted that Bradford was a good place to live in.

The News.
It is announced by the Spanish papers that President Johnson has made a formal demand upon England for indemnity for injury sustained by the rebel pirates fitted out in British ports during the war. Madrid papers ironically remark that Her Majesty's government find good precedent for complying with such demand, inasmuch as the nation that makes it has the ability to and is not lacking in the disposition to enforce such claim in a manner that will make refusal serious business.

Philadelphia, June 2.—The "gas grab" has been laid in its grave. The capitulation of the republican machine to Mayor Weaver was complete. ## OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It

When a physician tells a woman suffering with ovarian or womb trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for ovarian or womb operations.

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of ovarian and womb trouble cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margaret Merkley of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said I had ovarian trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Ovarian and womb troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing down pains, leucorrhoea, don't neglect yourself; try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A loaf of bread from Marvel is quite different from an ordinary loaf. The color, flavor, appearance—everything about it is thoroughly satisfactory. And you know it is clean and wholesome through and through. You enjoy every bite.

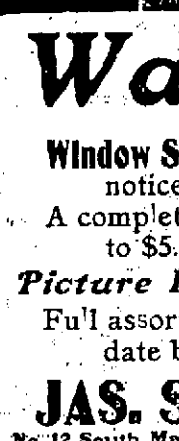

The fragrance from the newly baked loaf bespeaks ripe wheat, a clean, well-ventilated mill, plenty of purifying machinery—all the things you like to imagine about the mill where your flour is milled. We wish you could go through the mill where Marvel Flour is made, and then go through other mills. You would prefer Marvel Flour, ever after.

The next time you buy flour, try a sack of Marvel Flour. Your grocer endorses the manufacturer's guarantee as to perfect satisfaction, or full purchase price returned. Ask him.

JAPAN AS A TRADE CENTER.

The Annual Return of the Foreign Trade of the Empire of Japan in the Year 1904, issued by the department of finance of that government and just received by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics, presents the statistics of commerce of Japan during the past year, as well as data showing the proportion of its trade with each of the principal countries.
Japan has made rapid progress in her foreign commerce during the past decade, and her trade with the United States shows an especially rapid growth.

The imports into Japan in 1904 were the largest on record, being $184,933,000 in value, as against $157-933,000 in 1903, $143,056,000 in 1902, and $66,311,000 in 1895. Exports from Japan in 1904 also established a new high record, being $158,992,000 in value, as against $144,172,000 last year, $101,806,000 in 1900, and $69-825,000 in 1895. Thus the imports into Japan have increased by $118-627,000 and the exports from Japan by $89,167,000 since 1895.

During the past ten years Japan has imported about $200,000,000 more than she has exported, the excess of the imports over the exports averaging about $20,000,000 annually during that period.

An examination of the statistics of commerce with the principal countries shows that Japan imports most largely from Great Britain, British India, the United States, China, and Germany; these five countries supplying about 77 per cent of her total imports. Of the total imports into Japan in 1904, amounting to $184,933-000, the United Kingdom supplied $37,356,000, or 20.2 per cent; British India (including Straits Settlements), $25,223,000, or 19 per cent; the United States, $23,942,000, or 15.7 per cent; China, $27,295,000, or 14.8 per cent, and Germany, $14,291,000, or 7.7 per cent.

The exports of Japan to the United States during the period in question increased at a rate far in excess of those of any of the leading European countries. As against a growth of total Japanese exports from $29-434,000 in 1884 to $56,017,000 in 1894, and to $158,992,000 in 1904, the exports to the United States for the same years show the following figures: 1884, $11,411,000; 1894, $21-488,000; and 1904, $50,423,000. In other words, while the total Japanese exports increased 90 per cent during the decade 1884-1894 and 184 per cent during the decade 1894-1904, the Japanese exports to the United States increased over 88 per cent during the decade 1884-1894, and about 135 per cent during the decade 1894-1904. During the latter decade the increase of the imports from the United States was 431 per cent, while the increase of the exports to the United States was 135 per cent.

The principal articles imported into Japan from the United States in the calendar year 1904, in the order of their magnitude, were: Kerosene oil, 5.5 millions; flour, 4.5 millions; raw cotton, 4.5 millions; machinery and parts thereof, about 2 millions; iron and steel manufactures, 1.9 millions; leather, 1.7 millions; cotton manufactures, 1.1 millions; wheat and other grains, canned provisions, cars and carriages, leaf tobacco, and coal, the last five items ranging downward and each showing figures less than 1 million dollars.

Japan's principal exports to the United States in the calendar year 1904 were: Raw silk and waste, 30.4 million dollars, silk manufactures, 6.1 millions; tea, 5.6 millions; mats and matting, 2.3 millions; porcelain and earthen ware, about 1 million dollars; and camphor, straw braids, wood chip braids, sulphur, tooth brushes, and rice, ranging downward from $620,000 to about $200,000 each.

CONFLICTING ELEMENTS.

The President and the railroads do not agree as to the policy of enlarging the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It is to be hoped, for the good of the country that some common ground may be found where the most popular man in the nation and the greatest industry may come together.

The President has the ear of the people and shares their confidence in large degree. The responsibility resting upon him is a grave responsibility but he is too large a man to be effected by clamor, even under the high sounding title of reform.

He realizes, as does every unprejudiced mind, that the railroads are the great promoters and developers of the country, and while he is the chief magistrate of all the people, the railroads are serving the same constituency.

There should be no conflict between the people's representative and these important interests.

The President finds it impossible to please everybody and the railroads have the same experience and while the man may be more popular with the masses than the corporations, this in itself is not significant as an element of prejudice largely inspired by ignorance influences the latter.

Many people regard a railroad as the property of a few individuals, composed largely of its officers, while the fact is, that the stock of American railroads is the property of from 75-600 to 100,000 people.

This stock is just as legitimate as the stock of any other corporation, and the men who own it are entitled to the same fair consideration.

The business of making rates is a complex business and many things enter into it which do not appear on the surface. The stockholders of a railway company would not be competent to make rates, any more than would the stockholders of an industrial plant be competent to make prices.

This authority is delegated to officers who become expert through long experience.

The one thing which these men keep constantly in mind is the best service to the stockholders who employ them, and this always carries with it the best possible service to patrons.

A railroad may sometimes be a monopoly, but it is always a railroad, and the locality which imagines it suffers because of this kind of a monopoly would be in sorry plight without the railroad.

The nation has reached a point in its history, when the atmosphere is filled with criticism and unrest. The large class of improvident people who never have a dollar are clamoring for recognition, encouraged by fanatical or designing leaders. They are inspired with the notion that in some way private property and especially corporate wealth should be divided up or so controlled that a general division of profits would be shared by the masses.

This is socialism pure and simple and the most important question before the country today is not railroad regulation and government control, but what can be done to restore normal conditions and preserve American institutions.

The clamor for radical tariff reform is simply another symptom of the reform epidemic which is just now infecting the country. The home market was never better than it is today and American labor was never more profitably employed. There is no occasion for stirring up a disturbance and unsettling values.

The Interstate Paper Co. has disbanded. This company controlled the product of the book paper mills of the state and like the General Paper Company, now in court, was regarded as a trust. The paper market will now be open to competition and cheaper prices will result.

If the mortgage bill becomes a law Wisconsin money will seek other states for investment and eastern capital will reap a benefit. The rate of interest can't be changed by a mortgage taxation law.

The Dinsdale Medical Bill should be killed in the senate. If a doctor is willing to advertise he is entitled to every encouragement. It is bad enough to fight ethics, without being obliged to fight the state.

The Dietz army has taken a few days off to plan another campaign.
When everything is ready it should be duly advertised so that Mr. Dietz can assemble his body guard of small children.

The state has plenty of new laws, why not have a constitution to fit?
This is a progressive age and relics should not be permitted to block the wheels of progress.

Put the assessment of property back to a 50 per cent valuation and mortgages will take care of themselves without a law.

The boy who gets the worst of a fight usually knows why, but the Russians have nothing to offer.

There's nothing succeeds like success. If you don't believe it, consult the governor.

to keep them quiet.

Superior Telegram: Dr. Freda Lan-suffrage—and she takes with her the startling slogan, "No ballots, no ter give them the ballot, hadn't we?

Boston Globe: The Mexican Herald pokes fun at the papers in the United States for mentioning people when they pass their 100th birthday. The Herald says that centenarians are too common down in Mexico to attract attention, but that when a man or a woman passes the 120th mark it sits up and takes notice. A hundred years in the United States, however, is worth 200 years in Mexico.

Yonah's Companion: Phrases are more influential in British politics than in America. The latest to come into general use is "half-sheet-ter." It describes those who accept the prime minister's fiscal policy, which he said was so simple that he could write it on a half-sheet of notepaper. This phrase has not been in use long, but it is likely to appear frequently in the London dispatches for the next few months.

Evening Wisconsin: In dissuading the members of the G. A. R. against any attempt to use compulsion to prevent the devotion of Memorial Day to public amusements, Col. Watrous shows thorough-paced Americanism as well as common-sense. Patriotism is from within, not from without. Americans are not formalists and have never believed in the pious efficacy of compulsion to control opinions. If a man or a boy has it in his heart to attend a ball game on Memorial Day, he will not become a better patriot for being told he must not do it. If Memorial Day is a day sacred to the soldier dead who fought to preserve freedom.

Sheboygan Journal: Americans generally are forgetful and careless of their heroes. It is only of recent years that our nation's history has been studied and taught in the public schools in a way to make our national heroes appreciated. It is not a question whether these gray haired old men fought through the war. It isn't a question even whether they were in a battle. The fact that they were members of that great army that saved the union those many years ago should make them heroes. How valuable to the life of the nation even an enlistment was during those trying times, anyone who reads history closely can tell. Every citizen of Sheboygan ought to have joined in the Memorial Day service yesterday. It would make better citizens if every man who votes had walked with those soldiers to one of the city's cemeteries and thought, as he marched, how little he has done for his country compared with the men whose graves were marked with flags and flowers.

RAILWAY RATES AND FINANCE.
(Washington Letter in Merrill News, May 19.)

Mr. James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, in his testimony before the senate commission, on interstate commerce, this week, made one strong point against the plan of government rate fixing for railways. The ability of the railways to finance their necessary improvements and re-equipment is contended would be threatened with destruction under such a plan. This argument had immediate reference to the doubt which would certainly spread through the investing community about an enterprise whose revenue-earning power was to be governed arbitrarily by an outside commission. But the reasoning may be interesting further: One of the most interesting and most whole-developments in railway finance during the past five or six years of prosperity has been the increased use of earnings to pay for improvements. This reversed the policy of twenty years ago, when our railways were frequently in the habit of issuing bonds for all expenditures of this sort and using increased earnings merely to swell their dividends. The upshot of that policy was disastrous: the land of mortgage indebtedness proved in the end too great for the industry to bear.
The wiser policy of the present day has kept down dividends as compared with the "boom times" of the eighties; but it has placed the railways in a position, physical and financial which is happily altogether different from what they then occupied.

There are exceptions among the railways today, but the fact that companies which have not pursued such a policy have incurred severe public criticism and been adversely rated on stock exchanges. But the point to notice is, that pursuance of this prudent policy has depended wholly on maintenance of the companies' earning power. A commission scaling down rates, from time to time, to what it might deem a reasonable basis—even to a basis providing for moderate dividends—would still have the power to cut off wholly such use of current income, leaving the companies to pass or reduce their dividends, or to throw on their capital account the entire burden of new equipment and construction. This is but one of the many directions in which the proposed rate-regulation act, designed to correct a grave, might easily end by only crimping. The danger is too serious to incur lightly, when the abuses which the proposed law seeks to remedy may be dealt with by the proper use of the machinery already in the government's hands.

LABOR LEADERS
MAKING CLAIMS

its business and perform its contracts in spite of the unwarranted sym-thetic strike called by the teamsters.

"Evidence is in our hands that officials of the union, Albert Young among them, repeatedly have approached customers of the Peabody Coal company and have promised immunity from labor troubles if they would break their contracts with Peabody and transfer their business to other dealers who were willing to obey the illegal orders of the union. They threatened such firms with boycotts if they continued with Peabody and did not submit to the demands to violate their contracts.

"The baseless accusations made by Young and Shea were devised for the same malicious purpose. The charges made by these men as to payment of strike benefits and as to the office buildings strike are unqualified lies, and are made with the intention of injuring the concern, which has done most among the coal dealers of Chicago to perform its contracts at whatever loss to itself rather than obey the illegal orders of the Teamsters' union."

NO HOLD-UP BY BOLD BANDITS

INTERURBAN CAR YARN HAD SLIM FOUNDATION.

ONE MAN'S POCKET RIFLED

And Watch and $18 Taken, Possibly During a Few Moments of Darkness on the Train.

Pickpockets did a thriving business in Beloit yesterday and one man was reported to have lost a pocket-book containing $130. Some time ago a Line City paper solemnly advised its readers to keep out of Janesville and then proceeded to reassure them concerning the efficiency of Beloit's police force. On their account, it was intimated, the light-fingered gentry found that city a bad place to stop in an invariably moved on to the northward. All of which shows that it is never well to toss boulders when one's own crystal palace is not surrounded by evil netting.

The thrilling story of the hold-up of the interurban car and trailer which left that city at 8:10 in charge of Conductor Powers and Motorman Robinson, which appeared in the morning papers here and elsewhere, appears to have had very little foundation. There was no attempt to cut off the trailer and demand money and valuables at the point of the gun; no concerted effort on the part of pickpockets to raid the whole car; no women fainting; nobody shouted in a deep gruff voice: "Shell out!" The circumstances were as follows: As the car and trailer passed the Berlin Works and began to slow up for the Fourth street crossing, a man by the name of James Ryan standing on the front platform of the trailer started to reach for the bell-rope to signal for a stop. By mistake he pulled the plug and severed the connection with the trailer lights.

In the darkness that ensued several voices made themselves heard above the ordinary hum of conversation. Anton Woelitz, a tailor whose place of business is above Connell's cigar store on Milwaukee street, remarked in loud tones that he had been robbed of $7. Whether or not he was speaking of ancient or current history remained a matter of doubt with several, among them two of the three Janesville ladies who were interviewed this morning and declared the hold-up story a fake. Woelitz did not appear at his place of business today and no further particulars concerning his troubles could be learned.

After Woelitz had spoken, another shouted: "What's the matter here? We're all getting robbed," and another: "Get your hands out of my pockets!" They seemed to be talking in a joking tone. Several couples on the rear end of the trailer continued to laugh and giggle and the great majority of the passengers took no notice of the incident.

When the train stopped three men had gotten aboard one of the cars. They did not get off again and run—there was nothing about their actions to excite any suspicion.

When the conductor came back to connect up the lights he asked who had pulled the plug and a man by the name of James Ryan answered promptly that he had done it, supposing he was pulling the bell-rope. The interurban officials were satisfied after an investigation today that the man spoke the truth. In a few moments the cars moved on and a few blocks beyond, a Mr. Simonds, who is employed in the Berlin Works, got off. It was not until after he had left the car that he discovered that $18 and a gold watch had been taken from his pockets. His case is the only authentic one that has been reported, as far as the car and trailer are concerned, and it is possible that some pickpocket got in his work during the brief moments of darkness. If there was such a character aboard he remained on the cars until they reached Janesville.

TOOK HIS LIFE WITH REVOLVER

Vernon Price, Who Was Formerly Day Clerk in the Park Hotel Here, Suicided at Stoughton Yesterday.

Vernon Price, formerly day clerk at the Park hotel in this city, committed suicide at Stoughton at ten o'clock yesterday morning. His body was found in the basement of the Hutson House where he had been employed since leaving Janesville. He had been drinking heavily of late and early in the week he told acquaintances that if he could not put a stop to his dissipation he would end it all with a revolver. He was forty-five years of age and well thought of while a resident here. He visited in Janesville about two weeks ago.

JANESVILLE BAND WOULD NOT DESERT

The Parade, and Disappoint the Janesville Woodmen Who Hired Them—Big Day at Beloit.

As the union musicians who compose one of the Beloit bands had not been hired to play for the Woodmen celebration yesterday they launched a protest against a non-union organization from the Line City and the Evansville band appearing in the parade. The Rockford band leader notified the marshal of the day that his musicians would not appear in the procession unless the two in question withdrew, and after a conference of the Woodmen managers was notified that the non-union band would march and the others could do as they pleased. The Janesville band refused to become a party to Rockford's action on the ground that they had been hired by Janesville people and proposed to stand by their contract. It is possible that an effort will be made to enforce a fine. The Freeport band did likewise. In the contest for the $75, $50 and $35 prizes the Bower City musicians won second money; Evansville, first; and Freeport, third. The parade was somewhat disappointing as there were only four bands and four drill teams in line. In the contest the Foresters of Madison won first place with Rockford a close second. Janesville was third and Freeport fourth. The lady members of Crystal Camp Drill team No. 132 won second honors. The day was an ideal one and it was estimated that there were fully 10,000 visitors in the city at three o'clock. Factories and stores were closed for the holiday. The musical and literary program was given at the city park.

Monday will be school children's day and all pupils in the public, parochial, and private schools of Milwaukee will be admitted free to the grounds. Pony races will be arranged and the other attractions will be of a nature to particularly interest the youngsters. The heads of the various Indian tribes in the state may be present and it has been suggested that the veterans from the Soldiers' home be present in a body with their band. Tuesday is to be known as retail merchants' day and members of the Wisconsin Retail Grocers' association, who will hold their convention in Milwaukee the same week, will be present. Some distinguished speaker will be secured to give an address on some subject of commercial interest. Wednesday is to be state day and special excursions will be run from all of the large cities. Some well-known man from the state will deliver the address and Dana's Third Regiment band of La Crosse, one of the best musical organizations in Wisconsin, will give concerts. Thursday will be Milwaukee day and Friday will probably go down on the program as automobile day, though this has not been entirely decided on. A suggestion was made that each of the seventy-two counties of the state be invited to send a delegation for this day and that suitable exhibits of their products and industries be displayed in connection.

London, June 2.—St. Petersburg dispatches received here state that the reactionaries have again ingratiated themselves to the czar in the favor of the Czar that the plan for the establishment of a Council of National Defense, which the Czar recently announced has been abandoned for the present, if not indefinitely. This council was designed to end friction among the various factions of the aristocracy and Grand Duke Nicholas was entrusted with the work of drawing up plans for its operation, and although the Grand Duke is still busy with his work, there is much doubt expressed as to the exact time when he will be able to begin it.

GEORGE RANDALL MAJOR GENERAL

LEAVES HIS COMMAND OF DEPT. OF LUZON

TO ACCEPT THE PROMOTION

Arrived in San Francisco Last Week, and is Now on Way to Washington—To Be Retired in October.

Brigadier General George M. Randall, a brother of Mrs. Anna R. McKenney who resides at 56 Ruger avenue, this city, and himself a well-known former resident of Janesville, will be promoted to the position of Major General in June and will be Assistant Chief of Staff at Washington, D. C. He arrived at San Francisco from Manila last week and is on his way to the United States capital. On October 8th he is to be retired.

Gen. Corbin's Tribute

An issue of the Manila Times of April 10, containing an account of some field day sports by 2d and 12th cavalry and 30th infantry athletes, contains the following which will interest Gen. Randall's many friends in this city: The field day sports on Wallace Field closed Saturday evening and the contestants were awarded medals. Major General H. C. Corbin commanding the division of the Philippines was called upon to make the awards by Brigadier General George M. Randall, commanding the department of Luzon, under whose direction the field day sports were carried out. General Corbin paid a glowing tribute of praise to General Randall in his introductory remarks. He said: "The republic has been served by no stauncher citizen or finer soldier than George M. Randall."

Three in a Class.

"With the coming of his long deserved promotion old soldiers will think of three illustrious major generals who stand together in a class: George M. Thomas, George Crook, and George M. Randall. With the departure from the Philippines division of General Randall and General McCaskey, I shall feel lonely, as the only general in the division who served in the Civil War." An effort to propose three cheers was drowned in thousands of voices, and soldier and civilian alike cheered the gallant general, and the demonstration was a fitting climax to the Wallace field sports.
